About Kutch

Kutch – the largest district in India – is a land rich in culture and stunning landscapes. The word Kutch means something that turns wet in one season and dry in another. A major part of it, called the Great Rann of Kutch, stays filled with water during the monsoon and turns into a white desert in winter.

On this trip, you will experience the magical Great Rann of Kutch and the famous Rann Utsav. You will also visit the UNESCO World Heritage Site Dholavira, the Offbeat White Desert, and some hidden gems of Kutch. Along the way, we'll cover attractions like Bhuj city, Kalo Dungar (Black Hill), the scenic Road to Heaven, and more.

Places to Visit

- Dholavira UNESCO World Heritage Site
- Wood fossil park
- Road of Heaven
- Kalo Dungar
